

Amyris & Dinaco Announce Exclusive Re-Seller Agreement for Neossance(R) Cosmetic Ingredients in Brazil

EMERYVILLE, Calif., June 25, 2015 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Amyris, Inc. (Nasdaq:AMRS), the industrial bioscience company, and Dinaco Importação Comércio S.A. ("Dinaco"), a Brazilian company specializing in cosmetic product distribution for the Brazilian market, today announced an exclusive re-seller agreement for Amyris's Neossance® cosmetic ingredients in Brazil. Dinaco, which distributes products and ingredients for many of the world's most important cosmetics and other manufacturers, will purchase and exclusively re-sell Amyris's Neossance® Squalane and Neossance® Hemisqualane products throughout Brazil.

"We're pleased to announce this important agreement, which brings together the high quality and performance of Amyris's personal care products and the broad distribution experience of Dinaco in the Brazilian market," said Caroline Hadfield, Senior Vice President, Personal Care, of Amyris. "The growing market for renewably-sourced personal care products poses a unique opportunity for Amyris to showcase its expertise in creating sustainable high-performance products that have proven performance."

Neossance® Hemisqualane is an innovative light emollient with high spreadability that is ideal for natural cosmetic formulations. It is the perfect replacement for petroleum-derived paraffins and silicone ingredients. Amyris's Neossance® Squalane is one of the highest quality and most versatile emollients on the market due to its sensorial profile, biocompatibility and consistently-robust composition. Both products are sustainable alternatives for petroleum- and chemically-derived products in personal care products. In addition, Neossance® emollients are biodegradable, ECOCERT-approved and USDA Certified 100% Biobased.
